Agreement

I understand that I am requesting a FREE Bible study correspondence course from Prisoner's Friend Ministries. I agree to devote myself to the completion of each lesson that I receive and return the completed test to the PFM office. I understand that a new lesson will be sent upon the completion of the previous lesson.

I understand that if my address changes due to transfer or parole, it is my responsibility to contact the Prisoner's Friend Ministries with the new address.

The information on this page will be kept in the strictest confidence. The PFM will use this information only for reference to better serve you. Please answer all questions completely with a brief answer. Though these questions are optional, your answering them will help us minister to you more effectively.

Dear Friend,

We want to thank you for being enrolled in the Prisoner's Friend Ministries correspondence course or for your request to become enrolled. Over the past few months Prisoner's Friend Ministries has undergone several changes including a new office location in Goshen, Indiana, a new director, and a new focus on ministry. With these changes we will be able to offer you a more focused study of the Word of God with a quick turnaround in getting your lessons to you. For those of you that have already completed one or more of the previous studies thank you for your participation and patience with us as we continue your studies with this program.

The study you are now enrolled in is Home Bible Study: 101. It is a 26 lesson study from Genesis to Revelation with a complete overview of the Bible. We will send you one lesson at a time and a 20 question test to be completed and sent back to our office. Once your test is graded the next lesson and test will be sent with your grade from the previous test.

As you go through Home Bible Study: 101 you will find answers for many questions that have been asked throughout time. As you read, you will see how many Bible characters overcame hard situations, and you too will begin to overcome your life difficulties. God has put many examples in His Word just for you. He knows the battles you face every day and He wants to help you.

With the recent changes we are up-dating our records too. Please fill out our enrollment form and return it with your first test. No personal information on this application will be shared with any other person, ministry, or agency without your written consent or by a court order. If while taking HBS: 101 your address changes please make note of this on your test paper. If you are paroled before completion you will be able to complete your study by contacting our office.

May God bless you,

Prisoner's Friend Ministries
